Pazhassiraja College's department of Travel and Tourism hosted a discussion on "Gender equality in Health" Dr. Anju K V, Medical Officer, Government Ayurveda Hospital, Kannur was invited to speak on the topic of "Gender equality in Health" The session was held in Chitrasala (Audio Visual Theatre of the College), and more than 90 students from both the postgraduate and undergraduate tourism programmes actively participated.

Aims and objectives:

- To provide the girl students opportunities to practice good health practices.
- To provide a platform for our girl students to meet and share their creative ideas relate to tourism.
- To encourage cooperation with other youth organizations with similar aims and objectives.

Prof. Shelji Mathew, Department of Travel and Tourism, Pazhassiraja College, began the session with introductory remarks and a welcome address. Dr. A O Roy, Principal of Pazhassiraja College, presided over the session. He provided a detailed picture of the current market scenario by citing relevant industry examples. He also cited findings from recent research studies in this field. Dr. Dileep M R congratulated the event with a thoughtful speech.

Dr. Anju K V, the speaker, educated our students on the gender disparities that exist in the Indian health sector but go unnoticed. She cited relevant examples from well-known industry leaders. She also mentioned that there are some exceptions to this rule, where both genders are treated equally. The discussion was very interactive. The session was attended by more than 90 students from the Department of Tourism. Many students expressed their concerns about the topic of discussion, and the speaker was able to clear them up by citing relevant examples. The session was both interactive and educational.

The session's Result:

1. Students were informed about the gender disparities that exist in the tourism education sector.
2. The session was highly interactive, with a promising exchange of ideas and thoughts on gender bias.
